FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Call for Submissions: Artisans at the PEI Brewing Company

The art of beer. The beer of art. Beginning in January, Artisans at the Brewery will be a new monthly event at the PEI Brewing Company. One Saturday a month, the brewery (in partnership with The Guild) will be taken over by the arts community to help support local artisans by showcasing their work in a unique environment. The PEI Brewing Company is calling for submissions from local artisans who are looking for a new, free-of-charge area to display their works.

Mike Ross, Sales and Marketing Manager for the PEI Brewing Company, is very excited for this new showcase. "PEI Brewing Company continues to strive for and support the local arts community. This initiative, 'Artisans at the Brewery', will give us the ability to bring two communities together under one roof."

The PEI Brewing Company invites all to this monthly event to grab a beer, chat with artisans and support local products.

The deadline for submissions is December 15th, 2013. Artisans can submit by visiting peibrewingcompany.com or contacting info@peibrewingcompany.com.

About The PEI Brewing Company:

The Prince Edward Island Brewing Company was established in February 2012, and immediately an expansion of the brewery was undertaken. Under the leadership of Jeff Squires, the company built a brand new brewery at 96 Kensington Road in Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, which opened in May of 2013. The new state-of-the-art facility features the latest technology available in the brewing industry, retail store, tours, bar and cold beer store.
